Faculty of Horticulture in Lednice was founded as a separate part of Mendel University in 1985. The Faculty is involved in the European university space (network Le Notre, ECLAS network, UNISCAPE) and the European Research Area in 7. framework program, network Leonardo, CEEPUS and others.

Department of Landscape Planning covers wide range of scientific and research topics related to spatial planning: management of cultural landscapes, ecological restoration and regeneration of landscapes disturbed by human impacts, architectural research of designed landscapes, public participation and recreational science. Educational activities are focused both on development of students' skills to understand landscape with creative approach and understanding of legislative background of the field of study and technological skills when developing a project. Active international cooperation either on scientific or educational field gives both academic staff and students an opportunity to develop their skills abroad or meet foreign experts in projects (co-)organized by Department of Landscape Planning.
